

The professional staff at Gracious Living has given me the confidence and peace of mind that I was looking for in care facility for my mother. The personal attention that guests receive raises the Gracious Living experience above the standard, and assures that physical, psychological and social needs are met. Their holistic approach to long term care, rather than simple maintenance, has clearly made a difference in my mother's quality of life.

The Gracious Living administration has always answered my questions promptly and courteously and consults me whenever decisions concerning care are necessary. Although I live far from Southern California, I feel that I am a part of care process and a member of the Gracious Living family.

John R. Anderson